Rockville's 'Single-Stream' Recycling Program Under Way

No Need to Separate Paper, Plastics and Metals

Rockville residents living in single-family homes and most townhomes no longer have to sort their recyclables. Now all recyclable items, including mixed paper, cardboard, glass bottles, aluminum cans and plastics, can be placed together in the blue recycling bin.

The City launched single-stream recycling in July to kick off Rockville's new refuse and recycling program.

As part of the new program, which will be implemented in phases beginning this fall, residents will receive two separate wheeled carts to accommodate trash and recyclables. The carts will be gray for refuse and brown for recyclable items.

The program is expected to increase how much residents recycle.

Rockville's previous recycling program required residents to separate paper and cardboard from glass, aluminum and plastic.

Rockville is now taking its recyclables to a new contractor, which will result in cost savings for the City. Rockville is expected to receive an estimated $235,000 in revenue for recycling materials in the next fiscal year.

Recycling is collected once each week. For more information, visit the city's Web site at www.rockvillemd.gov/residents/refuse-recycling. RR

Recycling in Rockville just got easier. Residents can now place all recyclable items into one container without having to sort them, as part of the City's new Single-Stream Recycling Program.

Tips and Reminders for Successful Single-Stream Recycling:

- Make sure to secure all loose paper before placing blue bin at the curb
- Do not place any recyclable items into plastic bags
- Plastic bags are not recyclable
- Flatten boxes to maximize bin space
- Place materials that do not fit into the recycling bin in paper bags
- Flatten boxes to maximize bin space
- Throw away plastic or wax liners found in cereal and cake boxes before recycling the boxes
- Collection is still being taken at the regular times: Recycling must be put out for collection by 6 a.m. on the day of pick up
- Remember to keep refuse and recyclables separate at all times, mixing may cause recyclables to be contaminated and unusable
- Pick up for large recyclable metal items (washer, dryer, stove, refrigerator, propane tank, etc.) is available by appointment only. Call 240-314-8568 between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday-Friday

Citizens Academy Teaches The Ins and Outs of Rockville

Course Helps Residents Better Understand Their City

Have you ever wondered about all that the City of Rockville has to offer? Do you want to know where all the parks are located? Are you curious about how the government works? Or are you just looking to learn more about your city and its history?

Now you have the chance. Twice a year, Rockville offers residents an opportunity to learn about their hometown through Rockville University, which is an eight-week course.

The City Manager's Office, Neighborhood Resources Division, oversees the Rockville University program. Residents learn about the City by talking with City staff, taking field trips and discovering ways to get involved in the community.

Rockville University is open to any resident age 16 and older. Participants must be able to attend most classes, which meet Thursday evenings and some Saturday mornings. Applications for the fall semester, which will begin in late September or early October, are due Sept. 11.

For more information or to register for Rockville University, call Dwayne Jenkins of the Department of Neighborhood and Community Services at 240-314-8343 or visit www.rockville.md.gov/residents/rockvilleu/registration.htm. RR

Rockville is Among Top 100 Best Places to Live

The City of Rockville has been named among the Top 100 Best Places to Live in the August edition of Money Magazine.

Rockville was chosen as one of America's best small cities for families because of its ample job opportunities, good schools and low crime. Each year Money Magazine sets out to find the most livable communities.

Rockville, earning its place at No. 66, took honors for its newly developed Town Center that offers plenty of shopping and restaurants. It also ranked high in leisure and arts because it is home to a civic ballet, youth orchestra, art show, university and concert series, to name a few.

"Although it's exciting to be picked as a top place to live in Money Magazine," said Mayor Susan R. Hoffmann, "anyone who lives here already knows it's number 1."

Each year Money Magazine uses a set of criteria to rank the Best Places to Live. This year cities with populations between 50,000 and 300,000 were measured on the ease of living, health, education, crime, park space and arts and leisure. RR

Water Meter Replacement Project Begins in Rockville

The City of Rockville will begin replacing half of the residential water meters this month and is expected to complete the project by the end of the year. Residents will receive a flier, which will be hung on their doorknobs to notify them of the replacement, and give information and instruction about the project.

Residents do not need to be home during the replacement. Water will be shut off for approximately 5-30 minutes during the replacement work. If the water is in use when workers arrive, they will return at a later time.

Replacing Rockville's residential water meters is part of an overall water system improvement plan, approved by the Mayor and Council in February. In addition to meter replacement, the plan includes water plant upgrades and replacement of aging water pipes.

After the meters are replaced, residents could see a difference on their water bill because the new meters will more accurately measure water use.

Phase I of the project will replace half of Rockville's residential water meters (approximately 5,000 households), and will continue through November. Phase II is planned to start next summer.

Neighborhoods that will be affected during the first phase of the project are:

Phase I-A

(August through September)

West End, Rose Hill, Markwood, Hungerford, Jefferson Square, Orchard Ridge, Potomac Woods, Griffith Oaks, Glenora Hills

Phase I-B

(October through November)

New Mark Commons, Fallsmead, Fallsbend, Saddlebrook, Fallswood, Rockshire, Twinbrook, Woodley Gardens, Regents Square, Woodley Gardens (West End)

Call Ilene Lish, Rockville Civil Engineer, at 240-314-8516

Residential water meters are now being installed as part of Rockville's water system improvement plan.

or visit the City's Web site at www.rockvillemd.gov/residents/water for information. If problems are encountered after the meter replacement, call Rob Queen, Rockville Inspector, at 240-314-8548. RR

'Alert Rockville' Free Emergency Alert Service

Citizens can receive immediate notification of impending weather, traffic and other emergency situations by signing up for Rockville's emergency alert system, "Alert Rockville." The address to sign up is <https://alert.rockville.md.gov/>. The service is free.

Users can select alerts to be sent to one or all of the following devices: E-mail accounts, cell phones, text pagers, Blackberrys and wireless PDAs.

Users can register to receive alerts about weather, countywide traffic (situations that usually involve road closures of two-to-three hours or more) or alerts about specific Rockville traffic. Messages also will be sent about major emergency situations. Montgomery County will provide the alerts regarding weather and countywide traffic.

While Alert Rockville is a free service, citizens who sign up to receive text messages may be charged a fee per message by their service provider.

Please consult your wireless provider to review your carrier's pricing plan.

For more information on emergency preparedness, visit the City of Rockville's Web site, rockvillemd.gov, and click on the Emergency Preparedness icon on the left column. RR

Report Pollution and Illegal Dumping

Call the Pollution Hotline to report pollution or illegal dumping at 240-314-8348.

The City of Rockville relies on and responds to calls from residents regarding water quality problems. Examples of problems to report include:

- Oil, paint or other chemicals leaking or draining into storm drains and streams.
- Construction waste being dumped onto the street.
- Sediment eroding into a storm drain or stream.
- Leaks and spills of automobile fluids or other waste products from automobiles entering drains.
- Paint being dumped into a storm drain or creek.
- Organic debris like pet waste making its way into a drainage system or stream.
- Anyone dumping anything directly into a storm drain.

After a complaint is reported, the City investigates. A City representative will visit the site to determine if a violation has occurred and try to identify the person responsible. The responsible party will be notified and advised on how to contain and cleanup the pollution or spill.

Depending on the location and severity of the spill, a Notice of Violation of Rockville's Water Quality Protection Ordinance can be issued and the responsible party may be fined.

If no responsible party is found, the City will work to mitigate the impact of the pollution. This could include cleaning up the spilled material. While all pollution hotline calls can be anonymous, it is helpful for City staff to obtain the contact information of the caller so that follow-up questions can be asked if needed. RR

Environmental Site on City Web Dedicated to All Things Green

'Greening Rockville' has launched on the City's Web site to give residents a dedicated place to access environmental information, activities, programs and regulations in the City of Rockville.

Use this new resource to learn about starting and maintaining backyard habitats, to adopt a stream, or to get tips on how to conserve water, reduce waste and buy garden plots.

The dedicated space allows you to take part in the greening of Rockville.

To learn more, go to the City's Web site, www.rockville.md.gov/environment. RR

A Glimpse into the City Government at Work

New Sister City Approved for Rockville

Asian Pacific American Task Force Support Addition of Chinese Sister City

Rockville is taking the steps necessary to adopt a new sister city in China with support from the City's Asian Pacific American Task Force.

Jiaxing, China was selected by a committee of eight residents who pursued aspects of the proposed relationship and initiated contacts both here and abroad to develop a relationship between the cities. Jiaxing has shown a commitment toward becoming a Sister City with Rockville in a proposal it submitted to Sister Cities

International, the organization working to unite cities.

Ying Chen, a resident of Rockville, first proposed the idea to adopt a Chinese Sister City to the Mayor and Council in 2005. In coordination with the task force, she and other members of Rockville's Asian community believe the relationship will help promote personal and government exchanges, stimulate a respect for diversity and improve Chinese language training and development in the community.

"We are just thrilled to be a part of this groundbreaking endeavor," said Mayor Susan R. Hoffmann.

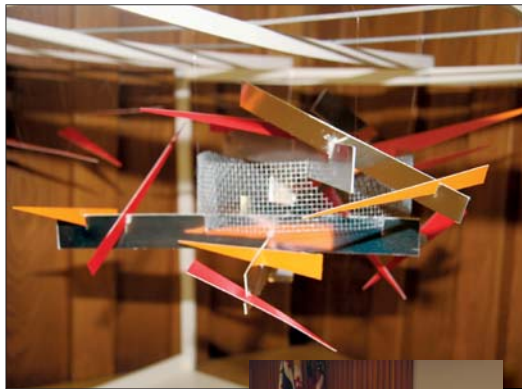

Chen received an e-mail from Cen, Guo Ping, Deputy Director of the Jiaxing Ministry of Foreign Affairs, in January, expressing continued interest in having a relationship.

"I officially inform you that Jiaxing Municipal Government is still very much interested in establishing the sister-city relationship with Rockville, aiming to improve mutual understanding and develop economic cooperation and cultural exchanges in the future," Guo Ping wrote.

A proposal from the City of Rockville will be submitted in August to the government of Jiaxing, and a formal document will be prepared and signed by representatives of both governments to establish the Sister City agreement. The formal adoption and signing of the agreement is expected to occur early next year. RR

The artwork, model featured above, will be permanently displayed in Rockville as part of the Capital Improvements Program, intended to beautify and enhance arts in the community.

Two 'Art in Public Places' Projects Awarded to Rockville Communities

The Mayor and Council approved in July two works of art to be permanently displayed at Thomas Farm Community Center and Rockville Town Square.

The unanimous decision came at the recommendation of the Artist Nomination Committee of the Cultural Arts Commission.

An aluminum and stainless steel mobile, titled "Magnet," by Ohio artist Charlotte Lees is planned for the lobby of the Thomas Farm Community Center. It will feature approximately 60 red and orange aluminum arrows, covering 100 feet, that will hang 15 feet above the floor, creating a pathway to the center attraction: Magnet.

Magnet is an 8-foot by 2-foot stainless steel mesh ring with a 12-foot by 12-foot intersecting triangle.

The Town Square piece, by Massachusetts artist Judith Ingles, will be placed in the architectural niches on N. Washington Street between Beall Avenue and Middle Lane.

Three handmade terracotta clay ceramic tile murals will trace the history of Rockville from its rural beginnings to the early settlement and development into a town center to the contemporary and urbanized city.

The project is funded through Art in Public Places in the fiscal year 2009 Capital Improvements Program, intended to beautify and enhance arts in the community. RR

Voter Registration Drive

In an effort to help citizens vote in the November presidential election, the Human Rights Commission will sponsor several voter registration drives. In August and September, citizens can register to vote and get more information about the upcoming election.

August voter registration drives scheduled:

- Tuesday, Aug. 5, 6:30-8:30 p.m. (during National Night Out) Rocklin Park Apartments, 708 Lenmore Ave.
- Saturday, Aug. 23, 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Kam Sam grocery store, 300 North Washington St.

Written Testimony Still Being Taken on City's Zoning Code

The Mayor and Council began their review and consideration of the proposed Zoning Ordinance for Rockville on June 9. The endeavor, which began in 2005, is the culmination of the City's evaluation and rewriting of its Zoning Ordinance.

The resulting draft, after much work from the Rockville Zoning Ordinance Revision Committee (RORZOR) and the Planning Commission, reflects the desire of residents to have high quality development and improved procedures for that development.

The Mayor and Council has held many meetings and work sessions to complete the project.

Written testimony from the public is being accepted until 5 p.m. Aug. 4. Testimony can be submitted via e-mail at mayor-council@rockvillemd.gov or to the City of Rockville, 111 Maryland Ave., Rockville, MD 20850.

The Mayor and Council have set Aug. 4 as the date for adoption of the revised Zoning Ordinance, but have said they will not adopt the ordinance before they have thoroughly reviewed all materials and comments. An alternate date of Sept. 8 has been set for adoption.

All meetings can be accessed online at www.rockvillemd.gov/rockville11. To learn more about the Zoning Ordinance, go to www.rockvillemd.gov/zoning. RR

Highlighting City Events and Programs

Registration Starts Aug. 14 for Fall Recreation and Parks Programs

Openings Still Available for August Activities

The end of summer may seem like it's quickly approaching, but it's not too late to register for a variety of August programs in Rockville's Recreation and Parks camps.

There's still plenty of summer left, and plenty of openings for the City's August programs.

Some of the August programs for teens and adults that are still open include Step and Sculpt, Cooking – For the Love of Tuna, Yoga – Gentle Stretch & Therapeutics and Cardio Kickboxing. Also check out Chess – Silver Knights, Abakadoodle – En Espanol, Junior Jazzercise, Gaelic Football and more.

REMEMBER TO REGISTER FOR FALL ACTIVITIES ON AUG. 14

"We've had a great turnout for the summer session so far," said Betsy Thompson, Superintendent of Recreation, "but there are still lots of activities available in August as well as in the fall session."

The Fall 2008 Recreation Guide will be available on Aug.

8. Registration for fall activities begins Aug. 14 for residents and Aug. 18 for non-residents.

Rockville Family Benefits from an Extreme Home Makeover

A Rockville family benefited from more than $7,000 in scholarships through the City's Recreation Fund enabling them to attend City programs at the Lincoln Park Community Center. And in turn, the City center has benefited from the work of ABC's Extreme Makeover: Home Edition.

Throughout the past four years, the Jackson-Budd family has received scholarship money from the Department of Recreation and Parks through the Recreation Fund, which provides financial assistance to those who would otherwise not be able to participate in programs and activities.

The family received a brand new home in June, thanks to Extreme Makeover: Home Edition. At the same time, ABC helped organize donations of books, toys and furniture to the Lincoln Park Community Center as a way of thanking the City for helping and supporting the family.

The Rockville Recreation Fund provides assistance to eligible Rockville residents. To learn how you can support the Recreation Fund, call Betsy Thompson, Superintendent of Recreation, at 240-314-8627 or visit www.rockvillemd.gov/recreation. RR

Rockville Swimmers Win Junior National Championships

The 2008 Summer Olympics will soon begin, but let's not forget about the outstanding athletes in Rockville.

The Rockville swim team has enjoyed a successful and exciting season. It was the proud winner of the 2008 Junior National Championships in Orlando, Fla., with 43 swimmers qualifying to compete there and in the USA Virtual Club Championships.

At this year's Metro high school championships, Rockville-Montgomery Swim Club (RMSC) swimmers won 13 of the 16 events and two team members set four new records:

Sean Stewart (200 Free - 1:39.50 and 100 Free - 45.61)

Eric Friedland (200 IM (Individual Medley) - 1:47.59 and 100 Breast stroke - 54.90).

United States Swimming has also recognized

Rockville's coaching staff for outstanding performance by inviting them to participate in the initial Eastern Zone High Performance Council, a group of head coaches from the elite teams in the East that met to coordinate the meet schedules across the Eastern Zone to benefit all of the athletes and teams.

RMSC has been asked to send a representative to the American Swimming Coaches Association World Clinic in September, to discuss the successes of RMSC's age-group program and how these help to build the program, and how they translate in to successes at other levels.

For information on the RMSC season, visit the team's Web site at www.rockvillemd.gov/swimcenter/rmsc/rock.htm or call Coach Dave Greene at 240-314-8755 or by e-mail at dgreene@rockvillemd.gov. RR

Rockville Police Provide Child Safety Seat Assistance

Rockville City Police Department officers are on hand to install child safety seats, ensuring seats are installed correctly and safely. This service is to help citizens comply with new Maryland law, effective June 30, that requires children who are younger than 8 years to be secured in a federally approved child safety seat unless the child is at least 4 feet 9 inches tall or weighs more than 65 pounds.

Meet Rockville's Newest Neighborhood Resources Coordinator

Rocio Estrada has been named Rockville's new Neighborhood Resources Coordinator. As a Rockville resident for 19 years, Estrada wants to help the people she has come to know in the community.

Estrada's duties include acting as liaison between neighborhoods and the City on key issues and changes in the community.

Estrada serves the neighborhoods between Interstate 270 and Route 355. Some of which include the Americana Centre, Heritage Park, Hungerford, King Farm, North Farm, Rose Hills, the West End and The Villages at Tower Oaks. Estrada can be reached by E-mail at restrada@rockvillemd.gov.

Previously, Estrada worked as a patient advocate in the cardiovascular unit at Washington Hospital Center. Estrada used her conflict resolution skills to help patients with questions and concerns about their medical care. She provided training and counsel for the nursing staff as part of the hospital's "Patient First" mission.

Estrada served as a Spanish interpreter and liaison to the community. Patients and their families recognized her as a Washington Hospital Center Star Employee.

Estrada is working toward her master's degree in Communication.

Officer Honored at Potomac Watershed Trash Summit

City of Rockville Police Officer Jamal Lewis was presented with an award at the Potomac Watershed Trash Summit on June 17 for enforcement action taken during the region's first Litter Enforcement Week.

Litter Enforcement Week was created to apprehend and prosecute individuals who litter and dump illegally. It raises awareness that litter laws exist in every jurisdiction and that there are significant penalties for littering and illegal dumping. The program emphasizes that litter cleanup is an economic burden to taxpayers, and wind-blown litter, road debris and hazardous waste are a public safety concern.

Ten jurisdictions and agencies participated throughout the metropolitan area, including the United States Park Police; the District of Columbia; Charles, Montgomery and Prince George's counties; and the cities of Rockville and Greenbelt in Maryland, and Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax in Virginia.

The law enforcement community employed several strategies to accomplish this mission including increased patrols in the areas most used for dumping, proactive traffic stops related to environmental crimes (i.e. uncovered loads), and enforcement of unlicensed tire hauler regulations.

In the City, littering and illegal dumping can result in fines from $100 to $1,000 for each violation.

Rockville hosts an annual volunteer appreciation day fall.

Help with Rockville's Sesquicentennial

Rockville is gearing up to celebrate its 150th anniversary and it needs help from residents and business owners to plan for a memorable event. Rockville will mark its sesquicentennial – occurring every 150 years – anniversary as an incorporated city on March 10, 2010. The City received its incorporation from the state legislature on March 10, 1860.

To honor the milestone, City officials want to invite residents and business owners to lead the planning and develop ideas for the celebration. The task force would meet several times this fall to determine themes, activities, outreach efforts and budget needs. Some ideas for possible themes are:

- Plan activities for the month of March and throughout the 2010 year, with an emphasis on incorporating the 150th anniversary theme into annual city events, such as Hometown Holidays, July 4 and Veterans Day.
- Look back at 1860 to where Rockville has come to its future 150 years from now.
- Draw on ideas and activities used during the 100-year anniversary celebration in Rockville.
- Outline activities for all residents.
- Involve neighborhood associations and schools.
- Develop a logo to brand the celebration.

If you would like to participate, please send a resume along with an Expression of Interest Form to the attention of Sesquicentennial Celebration, City Clerk's Office, 111 Maryland Ave., Rockville, MD 20850. The Expression of Interest Form can be found at www.rockvillemd.gov/government/commissions/InterestForm.pdf. The Mayor and Council are expected to appoint the roughly 12-member task force on Sept. 8. RR
